Time: 10:30am

Venue: National University Of Singapore
Faculty of Arts & Social Sciences
Lecture Theatre 13

Admission: Free

Vivid Creations is proud to present the KABUKI performance of AMMA TO DOROBO "The Masseur and the Thief". It will be held at SOTA School of the Arts Singapore Drama Theatre for a limited run from Friday, 16-17 March 2012. Kabuki is a popular form of traditional Japanese theater. The Association of Traditional Performing Arts (ATPA) have been sharing the art of Kabuki to audiences of various groups and various ages in Japan for 20 years. In 2010, their first performance of "The Masseur and the Thief" was a sell out success in Los Angeles. ATPA presents Kabuki in an accessible way to engage new audiences, and to revitalize the art form.

Story

A masseur named Hidenochi, seems to be a nice person, but he has another side that no one is aware of. One day, he came back home without realise that, hidden in there, was this thief named Gontaro...
And their humorous interaction begins...
