
Centre for Language Studies
National University of Singapore
Starting July 2016

The National University of Singapore (NUS) invites applications for the following full-time faculty position in the Centre for Language Studies:

Lecturer for Arabic Language

The Centre, a centre under the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, currently teaches thirteen languages, mainly to undergraduates at elementary, intermediate and advanced levels.

Applicants for the position should have at least a Master's degree in the Teaching of Arabic as a Foreign Language, Applied Linguistics, or any related field with a few years of experience in teaching Modern Standard Arabic as a foreign language and in curriculum development at the tertiary level. Skills/knowledge/experience in the application of IT to language teaching and/or research in Modern Standard Arabic as a foreign language would be an advantage. The appointee's duties will include a wide range of teaching and developmental tasks for lectures as well as course administration. Appointment will be made on a three-year contract, renewable subject to mutual agreement.

Remuneration will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Relocation, leave, medical and housing benefits are provided in accordance with the applicable NUS regulations. Applicants may contact the Centre if they have any queries.

Applications are to be made in English. Those interested in the position should submit a cover letter, a CV, a brief teaching philosophy statement, copies of educational certificates, samples of self-developed materials, and the names and contact information (postal and e-mail addresses, and fax numbers) of three academic referees. In addition, all applicants must include in the cover letter a URL link to a video clip of classroom teaching. The application and all supporting documents are to be sent to:
